CRESCENT CITY NEWS

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

J. P. Varn of Fruitland was a visitor in the city on Monday.

S. J. Hogg of Fruitland was over here on business last Saturday.

Mrs. J. V. Carns has been spending a week in Palatka visiting old friends. The Presbyterian Sunday school is practicing on a program for appropriate Easter exercises. J. H. Cort of Tenafly, N. J., who has been a popular guest of the sea-son at Grove Hall, expects to start for home sometime next week. Dr. T. R. Beggs has purchased a new Ford roadster especially for his practice, thus retiring his big Overland for family riding.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCormick motored to St. Augustine and return last Saturday, having as guests for the trip Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williams.

Next Sunday morning will occur the quarterly communion service at the Presbyterian church. At this service also some eight or ten new members will be received into the fellowship of the church.

Miss Pohlemus returned last week for a short stay at Grove Hall. Miss Pohlemus has been over to the Seabreeze beach, but didn't like it as wel! as Crescent City. Her parents are in South Florida.

As a result of the recent Bible Conference two classes have been formed for study of the bible. One of these classes is for men and one for women. Both are composed of members of the evangelical churches. The classes meet each week on separate

"Alice in Wonderland," the entertainment provided by the Chancel Guild of the Episcopal church for last week in V. I. A. Theater, was presented in a delightful sented in a delightful manner by local artists and to a well-filled house. The guild will clear nearly $80 by the en- to the exchange and its individual tertainment.

At the annual meeting of the Presbyterian chucrh on Wednesday evening, Rev. R. Shull Burris, the pastor, accepted the call of the congregation for the ensuing year. It will be a relief to members of the cognrega-tion to learn that this popular pastor, who has had several calls under consideration, is to remain in Crescent City. There was a quite general impression that the church was to Whitney is becoming better pleased lose him, and the people of the place with Crescent City each visit here, were not taking kindly to the idea.

Mrs. A. I. Spencer entertained a large number of young people last Thursday afternoon, the occasion being a shower for the benefit of Sunday's bride, Miss Ida Smith. A number of beautiful and useful presents thurch met last Saturday afternoon were showered on the bride elect. Mrs. Spencer, who had been of great various bids for building the new pas-

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Pratt, Mr. Jason Long, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pratt, closed their winter homes here on Tuesday and departed for the season Mr. and Mrs. Ira Pratt went direct to their home in Cropsey, Ill., while Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pratt will visit for a time with their daughter in Savannah, then visit friends for a time in Philadelphia before going to their home in Milton, Vermont. past week and there has been much anxiety concerning his condition. Mr. Reed is one of our oldest and most highly esteemed citizens and his con-dition during the past winter has been such as to keep him in doors most of the time, though he has been I. up and about the house, and seeing his numerous friends who called. His absence from the streets is what the people miss.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCormick expect to leave for their home in New York early in the coming week, much to the regret of a large circle of friends. Mr. McCormick is possibly our largest individual grove owner, as well as proprietor of the magnificently equipped Empire Packing House, one of the largest in this sec-tion. Both Mr. and Mrs. McCormick have always shown a deep interest in anything concerning the welfare of Crescent City and their benefactions for the past season have been numerous. None of our winter visitors will be more generally missed.

son. The ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. R. L. Bonsteel, pastor of the Baptist church, some 30 or 40 young friends of the bride and groom being present. Immediately following the ceremony the happy couple attended the church service, after which they went direct to their own home—the Pratt cottage being washed is to put an old Turkin the north end-where dinner had ish towel in the bottom of the dishbeen prepared. The best wishes of a large circle of friends follow the bride and groom.

Mrs. A. T. Pierson and her daughter, Miss Pierson, who have been guests for the season at Grove Hall, expect to leave early next week for their home in Brooklyn, N. Y. They report that they have enjoyed the winter season very much, and that the weather has been ideal. Mrs. Pierson is the widow of one of the most distinguished ministers in the country, the late Dr. Arthur T. Pierson. It was Dr. Pierson who succeeded to the pastorate of the Spurgeon Tabernacle in London, England, on the death of Dr. Spurgeon. He was also a noted author and evangelist, and during his life served some of the strongest churches of his denomination in this country.

Mrs. Mary A. Howe and Miss Flora E. Minton of South Deerfield, Mass., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Crandol E. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Clausen of New York, guests for the season at Grove Hall, left on Tuesday for their New York home much to the regret of a large circle of friends.

J. C. Grimsley and Ed. Harper, who have a fine field of potatoes on their farm across the lake, began digging for shipment this week. Their pota-toes are large and they will dig nearly 50 barrels to the acre.

Mrs. Roy P. Perkins and little daughter of Archer have been spending the past two weeks with Mrs. Perkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Smith. Mrs. Perkins expects to return home the first of the coming

E. D. Lounds is building a six-room bungalow on his half block opposite the Auditorium, which will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Contractor John Rafferty has the work in hand. The house will set well back among the orange trees, and facing Prospect street.

The new home for Otis Reynolds or ot 3, block 11, at the corner of Park street and Florida avenue, is nearing completion. It is a very attractive two-story house with ample porches and built with a view to comfort. The contractor is Mr. L. P. Waterman of DeLeon Springs, an uncle of Mr.

Mr. and Mrs. George Peterkin and daughter, Mildred, left Tuesday for their home in South Deerfield, Mass. They have been here during the months of February and March, occupying the cottage with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen. Mr. Peterkin is one of the prosperous tobacco growers of the Connecticut valley.

J. E. Bartlett, president of the local citrus exchange, states that the packing house of the exchange is practically through for the season, and that the season has been quite satisfactory members. He states that the exchange will soon furnish for publi-cation a review of the season's work, of which report The News will be furnished a copy.

S. E. Whitney of Detroit who has been spending some two weeks at Grove Hall, left on Tuesday for St. Augustine and Jacksonville, in each of which places he will spend a week before returning to his home. Mr. of which this was the third in six years. He says we have the most attractive little place in all Florida and that he expects to see it make a start for a more rapid growth soon.

Mrs. Spencer, who had been of great various bids for building the new pasassistance to Miss Smith in her preparations, served a delicious luncheon to her guests. lowest and best. The new residence will occupy the pretty space on the ample church lot, directly in rear of the church and facing Summit street. It is to be pushed to early completion. The building will be of the one story bungalow style and is to cost completed about $1,800.

Skim Cream on Bottles.

A novel method of skimming all the cream from milk contained in a bottle or like vessel is to use a large round disk of rubber which takes a slightly concave shape, it being hung upon three light aluminum rods or wires. Slipping the disk in edgewise and below the surface, it then takes the flat position and can be drawn out with all the cream.

LITTLE, BLACK AND UGLY.

And Very Touchy, Too, Is the Devil' Coach Horse Beetle.

My, how very touchy he is! Point your finger at him and see how he turns up his tall and opens his jaws, just as if he were a lion instead of a tiny beetle. He thinks he is going to frighten us away. But we won't hurt him, anyway, because he is a very valuable sort of beetle-a tiny garbage man. He's called the devil's coach horse beetle.

He's long, black and ugly. He spends his time hiding under stones or crawling about in gardens. Like a majority of beetles, he's one of nature's scaven-

Have you ever thought what a dirty old world this would be if it were not for the animals and birds and insects that go around cleaning up? Certain birds and animals devour the bodies of other animals, but they leave it to the beetles to clean up the crumbs. So he's busy all day devouring the little particles that the big eyes of the buzzard cannot see. He's always celebrating clean up week. So don't blame him if he turns up the end of his tail and looks at you threateningly when you disturb him. He's too busy to play.-Philadelphia North American.

MYSTERIES IN HOLES.

What Becomes of the Earth Rodents Dig From Their Dens?

I have found two weasels' dens on the margin of a muck swamp in the woods that presented the same insoluble problem as the chipmunk's holewhat has become of the bushel or more of earth that must have been brought to the surface? Both the weasel and the chipmunk have several galleries and one or more large chambers or dining halls, and how each manages to hide or obliterate all the loose soil that must have been removed is a question which has long puzzled me.

If we had an American Fabre or a man who would give himself up to the study of the life histories of our rodents with the same patience and enthusiasm that the wonderful Frenchman has shown concerning the life histories of the insects he would doubtless soon solve the mystery.

I used to think that the chipmunk carried away the soil in his cheek pockets, and I have so declared in one of my books, but I am now very certain that he does not-only his food stores are thus carried. - John Bur-roughs in Harper's Magazine.

Birds and Glass.

It has been frequently noticed that no wild bird can understand the properties of glass, and great numbers, ranging in size from a pheasant to a titmouse, are killed by flying against the windows of country houses.

If a room possesses a large mirror reflecting the view seen through an open window birds are particularly liable to be deceived, and especially if frightened, into thinking that they can fly through it.

Sparrow hawks will sometimes chase their intended victims into strange places. Some years ago a member of this species pursued a small bird JACKSONVILLE, FLA. through the open window of a railway carriage in motion. In its blind determination to secure the panting fugitive it entangled its claws in the meshes of the hatrack and was igno-

Causes and Effects.

If man was to judge of causes by their effects there would be no small causes in the universe. In a nature where everything is connected, where everything acts and reacts, moves and changes, composes and decomposes, forms and destroys, there is not an atom which does not play an important and necessary part; there is not an imperceptible particle, however minute, which, placed in convenient circumstances, does not operate the most prodigious effects. If man was in a capacity to follow the eternal chain, to pursue the concatenated links that connect with their causes all the effects he witnesses * * he would find that they are true atoms which nature employs to move the moral world.—Holbach
